F/LIST CELEBRATES DELIVERY OF 1000th CABIN INTERIOR
Anniversary Gathering of VIPs at F/LIST in Austria

Thomasberg, F/LIST of Austria celebrates the delivery of their 1000th cabin interior. To commemorate the event, F/LIST held an exclusive business talk entitled Aeronautic Visionaries and Mavericks, reflecting on the past 12 years in the aircraft industry. Guests included 3-time Formula One world champion Niki Lauda and Andrew Muirhead, head of Lufthansa Techniks product innovation, as well as Austrian aeronautics expert Kurt Hofmann and F/LIST CEO Katharina List-Nagl.

Commemorating the delivery of their 1000th cabin interior, F/LIST invited celebrated aeronautics experts to an exclusive business talk in Thomasberg, Austria. Among them were long-term F/LIST client Niki Lauda and Andrew Muirhead, head of Lufthansa Techniks product division Original Equipment Innovation. F/LIST CEO Katharina List-Nagl took the opportunity to reflect with her guests on the past 12 years of innovative ingenuity in the aircraft business. “Since 2004, F/LIST has been equipping business jets with luxury cabinets. Our ingenious products have earned us global recognition. We have now equipped over 1,000 business jets, but we are only just beginning. Now, more than ever, we are striving to expand our market with innovative products and pioneering production technology,” explains List-Nagl.

Innovation power determines the market
The power of F/LIST to innovate has been garnering attention for quite some time. For example, when they launched their lightweight stone applications and stone flooring. Once again, F/LIST holds pioneering developments in their hands. Their new lacquer technology surface system is revolutionizing the industry and creating new standards in surface quality. Furthermore, their subsidiary HILITECH, founded in 2014, will introduce the first ultra-lightweight cabin system to the aeronautics market. Airline proprietor Niki Lauda has been relying on F/LIST innovations for years now, commissioning F/LIST ingenuity to equip two of his private jets. “I admire F/LIST’s earnestness. Their work is honest and delivery is reliable. There is no such thing as ‘can’t be done.’ Every request I have ever made has been honored with well-thought-out solutions.”

Rapid developments are increasingly important
Andrew Muirhead, the product innovation director for Lufthansa Techniks, stressed the importance of timing in the development of new cabin interior innovations. “Customer demands are becoming increasingly ambitious and the time allotted for research and development ever shorter. Creating a noticeable impact on the current market requires extensive knowledge and the appropriate flair for promptly accommodating customer desires with product solutions. For precisely these reasons, Lufthansa Technics chose F/LIST as their INAIRVATION joint venture partner.”
