

F/LIST

The F/LIST promise of quality.

The family company F/LIST pursues a longterm strategy of continuous growth: Financially, through an increase of our equity ratio. Geographically, through an expansion into new markets. Strategically, through the orientation towards the three business areas Aircraft Interiors, Yacht Interiors and Luxury Residence Interiors. The principles to which we adhere in our daily business are maximum quality expectations and innovative strength through investments in the development of new products and processes.

What makes F/LIST successful is, ultimately, the entire team and each individual employee. It is they who live by our values – innovative, passionate, reliable – day by day and thus shape the company inwardly as well as outwardly. Without the highly qualified and motivated team it would not be possible to meet the standard of quality we set for ourselves. Hence it is an irrevocable tenet of F/LIST to support our employees to the best of our abilities, to create an agreeable working atmosphere, provide healthcare, security of employment, fair wages and individual support and development.

To make the processes, which are substantial to our high quality standard and thus our success, permanently transparent and verifiable and to guarantee our external partners a consistently high level of quality, we have implemented a quality management system in accordance with EN 9100. This system is subject to permanent revision of achievement of objectives and is thereby continuously developed and improved. The aforementioned longterm objectives are the framework for the goal congruence validation. On the basis of those, the impact of the quality management system as a whole is critically assessed on a regular basis. In this course, the goals themselves are not exempt from scrutiny.

First and foremost our quality management system benefits our stakeholders: together with our business partners we aggregate research and development activities to utilize synergies and create the as much added value as possible.

For our suppliers we ensure a constant order situation with optimal clarity and reliable and non-complicated handling of payables.

Our customers can rest assured that they get the utmost quality products, on schedule and from an innovative market leader.

The entire complex - from the company and its objectives through its employees, its quality management system to its stakeholders - is meant to be effective and sustainable in all matters and at all levels of its application.
